

You're interested in working with Babes Helpin' Babes, and we're interested in working with you. Now what? Take a look through our Introduction Process to see how we provide value to our clients right from the start.

We're here when you're ready.

Email: contact@babeshelpinbabes.com

Phone: 913.957.6739

Instagram: @babeshelpinbabes

Phase 1: Introduction

Who: Leadership + BHB

Let's establish a relationship between Babes Helpin' Babes (BHB) and those on your team who are passionate about creating cultural changes and have the influence and budget to do so.

This typically looks like a 45-minute meeting with half of the meeting detailing the services and offerings BHB provides and the other half dedicated to the problems your leadership team would like to address when it comes to the company's diversity, equity and inclusion (DEI) goals.

Phase 1: Introduction

Who: Employees + BHB

Now that we're acquainted at a leadership level, we'd like to hear from employees that have direct influence on company culture. These are the people we like to call the "Culture Changers." They are pushing for changes at the grassroots level but, they have the respect and trust from leadership to help push culture forward.

This happens with our Free BHB Intro Class. It's a 30-minute presentation from BHB about how we started and the problems we are looking to solve in the workplace, followed by 30 minutes of employee discussion moderated by BHB.

Phase 2: Proposal

Who: Leadership + BHB

Phase 1 gives us all a good understanding of the DEI problems within your organization and allows us to build a scope of work that address these problems and finds realistic and impactful solutions.

At this stage, BHB will find a time to discuss with your leadership team the problems we've heard so far, the survey results and our proposal for a continued partnership.